

Meredith Neumann is the Director of Choral Activities at the Hartt Community Division. As Director of the Connecticut Children's Chorus (CCC), she conducts the Concert Choir and Women's Choir and oversees the region's most comprehensive auditioned youth choral program. Founded in 1991, the CCC has grown to seven choirs encompassing over 250 students from 46 Connecticut communities. They have performed at choral festivals and conferences throughout the U.S. and abroad, and are presently celebrating their 25th anniversary. A Connecticut native, Meredith herself is a proud alumnus of CCC.

Meredith holds a Masters in Music Education from the Hartt School, where she studied choral conducting. She also earned a coveted assistantship in Music Education with Dr. John Feierabend. Meredith is a sought-after presenter and conductor at choral conferences and festivals, and specializes in working with middle school singers. Her ensembles are known for their innovative approach to performance and their intense passion for music-making.

Meredith has ten years of experience teaching middle school choirs throughout Connecticut, both in public and private schools. She is Choirmaster of the Cathedral of Saint Joseph in downtown Hartford, conducting the Schola Cantorum and working with the Cathedral Youth Chorus. In addition to her teaching and conducting appointments, she is an active performer in the Greater Hartford region. She is a founding member of the early music vocal ensemble Voce Concitato, specializing in the music of the late Renaissance and early Baroque periods. Voce Concitato has presented for ACDA and performed throughout the northeast. Meredith is also a member of Voce, Connecticut's premier professional choral ensemble.
